VERSE

B♭maj7 B♭6 B♭maj7 B♭6

I could have a mansion, on the hill

E♭maj7 A♭(add9) B♭7

I could lease a villa in Seville

E♭maj7 Cm7 B♭9 B♭7♭9

But it wouldn't be as nice as a summer in Ohio

E♭ B♭maj9 B♭maj7 B♭6 B♭maj7 B♭6

With a gay midget named Karl, playing Tevye and Porgy

B♭maj7

I could wander

Paris

after dark

I could have a satchel full of dollar bills

A7

Cures for all the nations ills

Pills to make a lion purr

I could be in line to be the British queen

Look like I was seventeen

Still I'm certain I'd prefer to be going slowly batty

Forty miles east of Cincinnati

I could shove an ice pick in my eye

I could eat some fish from last July

But it wouldn't be as awful as a summer in Ohio

Without cable, hot water, Vietnamese food, or you

I saw your book at a Target in Kentucky

Under a sign that said "New and Recommended"

I stole a look at your picture on the inside sleeve and then I couldn't leave

Richard, who was with me, got uncharacteristically quiet

And he said, "All things considered, I guess you don't have to buy it"

So I smile like Mona Lisa, and I lay my Visa down

He wants me, he wants me, but he ain't gonna get me

I've found my guiding light, I tell the stars each night

Look at me,

look at him

Son of a bch, I guess I'm doing something right

I finally got something right

No, it's not Nirvana, but it's on the way

I play "Anita" at the matinee

Then I'll get on my knees, and pray I can state in my next bio:

"I'm never gonna go back to Ohio!"

I could chew on tin foil for a spell
